

Partners for Asian arts and culture

---

The Confucius Institute of Chinese Opera and The Institute for Asia and Asian Diasporas at Binghamton University share an outreach mission to inform area students, teachers and community members about the immense cultural diversity of China and Asia. CICO and IAAD collaborate to present school and community programs that promote the understanding and appreciation of Asian arts and cultures.

Karen K. Madsen

---

Institute for Asia and Asian Diasporas
607-777-4514
kmadsen@binghamton.edu

Kuo-I Chou (Valerie)

---

Confucius Institute of Chinese Opera
607 777-3056
kchou1@binghamton.edu

Sept.2011

CULTURAL AMBASSADORS

BINGHAMTON
UNIVERSITY
STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

Cultural Ambassadors at Binghamton University

The Institute for Asia and Asian Diasporas and Confucius Institute of Chinese Opera at Binghamton University recruit student volunteers to support or present outreach programs about Asia. We celebrate the diversity that university students bring to our community, and enable students to share their home or heritage culture. Cultural Ambassadors present programs and activities about Asia and Asian cultures for children and adults at schools, libraries, afterschool programs, community events and other settings.

Cooking Chinese dumplings and Korean BBQ , origami, classroom visits, Indian Mehndi tattoos, and Chinese spring lantern making are some of the activities Cultural Ambassadors have shared with kids in our community.

For information contact:

Karen K. Madsen
 Institute for Asia
 and Asian Diasporas
 607 777-4514
 kmadsen@binghamton.edu

Kuo-I Chou (Valerie)
 Confucius Institute of Chinese Opera
 607 777-3056
 kchou1@binghamton.edu